

Huang Dawei 黄大炜 Visits the ONEILL Group Hong Kong Office

Top China music star attends US and Australia real estate conference

Hong Kong March 31, 2010 International recording artists and celebrity Huang Dawei (黄大炜) recently visited the offices of the ONEILL Group Hong Kong. Huang attended a VIP gathering of real estate investors interested in the US and Australia real estate markets.

“It was a real thrill for our entire team to have Huang in attendance. I have been a big fan of his music for many years and saw him perform at the Beijing Olympics and several times in Taipei” said Patrick O'Neill, the CEO of the ONEILL Group. “He graciously signed autographs and posed for a few pictures”.

Huang Dawei is best known throughout the Mandarin world as a music icon and television personality. He has racked up multiple number one hits and garnered many awards including the Best Male Singer China, Most Influential China Artist 2010 and MTV Top Video Awards. When asked about his real estate plans Huang said “it seems like the US market is the place to be and I am here today to learn more.”

The real estate conference was hosted by the ONEILL Group Hong Kong and explored the current market conditions in the US and Australia. “Clearly the prices have tumbled in the US since the peak of 2006” said O'Neill. “In the major cities like New York and Los Angeles, the prime real estate markets are already rebounding. In secondary areas such as Las Vegas and South Florida there are still plenty of distressed properties. Australia real estate has not swung wildly like many of the other major markets and is on track to continue its slow and steady pace.”

The ONEILL Group is an international real estate firm with offices in Hong Kong and the United States.
